BLAME GAMBLING IN SLAYING OF BO

POLITICS WARMING UP; PRIMARY DATE IS DRAWING CLOSE

On Tuesday, August 12, the Ohio republicans and democrats will nominate their candidates for state, judicial and county officers at the primaries.

The republicans will find twenty-seven candidates on the county ticket. For some offices there is but one candidate, and for others—notably for county commissioner there are many. It is expected that the real battles will be for county treasurer, county commissioner, and for sheriff. The democrats will have but five candidates for county office, three of these being for commissioner.

There will be six state offices to be voted for, there are eight candidates for governor, and thirteen for lieutenant governor. Five republicans and four democrats are candidates for the Supreme Court bench. The voters will chose candidates for the State legislature, the State Senate, and the Court of Appeals.

From the above it will be seen that the voter who wishes to vote intelligently should brush up in advance.

CLEVELANDERS OUT FOR BURKE

Committee of 100 in Ohio Metropolis to Push Gubernatorial Candidacy of Elyria

By PHILIP W. PORTER

CLEVELAND, July 23.—Bearing the names of many people active in the public life of Cleveland, the Cuyahoga county committee of 100 that will direct the gubenatorial campaign here for State Senator J. F. Burke of Elyria, was announced yesterday.

Among those in the Burke camp are Councilman Marie R. Wing, Rev. Joel B. Hayden, Dr. Albert B. Storms, president of Baldwin-Wallace college; Solomon Weimer, former principal of West Commerce High school; Miss Wilma Ball, daughter of the late Webb C. Ball, and prominently identified with the Consumers' League, as is Miss Wing; Attorney Frank G. Carpentier, candidate for common pleas judge; Rev. Carl Yoder and Cliff A. Pearn, headquarters manager for the Bender Holcomb-Yoder insurgent Republican group.

State Senator Geo. H. Bender, who gave out the list, and who has been Senator Burke's colleague in many legislative battles, probably will be the mainspring of the organization, which will function from 246 the Arcade.

The committee plans an aggressive campaign. Virtually every district of the city will have a meeting of some sort, while two or three tent meetings directly before the primary—one of which will be addressed by Senator Burke—will wind up the state wide campaign.

Senator Bender's statement accompanying the announcement condemned "the class of politicians who are using their power for their own personal, pecuniary profit and the special priviliged interests they represent."

$1,800 LIQUOR FINES WERE ASSESSED

Mayor Hinkson Metes Out Sentences to Four of the Five Arrested Monday Evening

Liquor fines aggregating $1800 were assessed by Mayor Hinkson yesterday afternoon when four defendants plead guilty to violations of the law.

John Sito, owner of the house at 1702 West Avenue, was fined $1000 and costs. Sito has previously paid a fine of $500 and his wife $200 and he attempted to get out of his present difficulty by putting the blame on Stanley Winkewski, who lived upstairs. By so doing Winkewski could be fined as of a first offence and money would be saved. However after Winkewski had plead guilty and had been fined $500 and costs Richard Jacobs and Roland Fulton, arrested for having liquor in their possession stated they had bought the booze from Sito. That changed the complexion of things and he was forced to plead guilty. Jacobs was fined $200 and costs, and Fulton $100 and costs.

None of the defendants were able to pay their fines and they were committed to jail.

Coleman Mussey, Vulcan street was arrested by Patrolmen Southam and Walton last evening in an alley near Kolopas soft drink place on Western Heights, on a charge of transporting liquor. When searched, a bottle of raisin jack was found on him. This morning in police court he plead guilty and will be tried later.

Timothy Williams, arrested on a liquor charge, also plead not guilty, and will be tried Monday.

James Smith, arrested by a B. & O. detective on a charge of attempted burglary of a railroad boarding car, plead not guilty, and has been bound over to court under $500 bond.

BOY DESPERADO ESCAPES FROM PRISON

BALTIMORE, Md., July 23.—George Gross, boy desperado and bandit, serving a life sentence for murder, escaped from the city jail here today after knocking a guard unconscious and taking his revolver. Using an iron bar the boy climbed to the top of the jail yard and made good his escape amid a rain of bullets from the guns of hastily summoned guards.

Gross, with three other boys, was convicted of the murder of a local jeweler in a daring daylight holdup. Police of all surrounding cities have been warned to look out for him.

ORDERS BAN ON "PLUS" STEEL PRICES

U. S. Steel Corporation and Subsidiaries Told to Stop Practice as "Unfair Competition"

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The United States Steel Corporation will be given sixty days in which to carry out the Federal Trade Commission's decree, ordering abandonment of the "Pittsburg-Plus" system of determining the price of steel, it was announced here today.

In its decision, the commission held that the "Pittsburgh-Plus" system was an "unfair method of competition". The system involved the sale of steel at a Pittsburgh cost price plus the amount of freight charges to the delivery point.

"This system is contrary to the public interest," the commission declared. "It is not based on the law of supply and demand but is a price fixing system, which lessens and eliminates competition, retards business in all steel centers except Pittsburgh and adds greatly to the cost of steel products."

Farmers of eleven western states, the commission said, were forced to pay $30,000,000 more a year for their steel than if the system were not existing. In the arguments before the commission, the system was ardently defended by the steel company's attorneys, who declared it was based on "wide open competition". This was denied by attorneys for thirty-two independent steel companies in the middle west.

One dissenting opinion, filed by commissioner Gaskill, contended the commission was without authority to prohibit the corporation from "charging the same price in all its plants". He maintained the law didn't require "absolute freedom of competition".

The commission, however, contended that elimination of the "Pittsburgh-Plus system" would build up all steel centers outside Pittsburgh and give western and southern steel users the "natural advantages of their locations".

LEGION APPEAL FOR TRUCKS AT LORAIN SUNDAY

At the meeting of Elyria Post No. 12, the American Legion last evening quite a number of world war veterans prepared applications of adjusted compensation. The number, however, was not as large as anticipated and the post desires to draw the attention of ex-servicemen to an article on page two of the Chronicle-Telegram of Monday in which veterans were urged to file their claim immediately to receive the greatest benefit under the law. Blanks may be obtained from the Legion rooms; Carl F. Wolf, Legion adjutant, 204 Masonic Temple; A. H. West, attorney, Lorain County Bank building; H. E. Birch, L. C. S. & Trust Co.; Otto Mischka, Chronicle-Telegram; Major Frank Murbach, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Murbach Coal & Supply Co. yard office, and the local Red Cross in Lorain County Bank building.

At last evening's meeting of the Legion a request was received from Lorain Post No. 30 that Elyria truck owners send as many trucks as possible to Lorain, Sunday morning, to help in the final clean up drive. They should report at about 9 a. m., at the American Legion headquarters on the west side of Broadway between Erie avenue and Fourth St. Legion Post colors will designate the headquarters.

A communication was received from Sheriff Fred Underhill thanking the legionnaires for their wonderful work in and about Lorain and Avon, caring for wounded and killed, and guarding of property and the handling of traffic.

The Post expects to call a special meeting for next week to consider several important matters which are coming up for its attention.

Loeb-Leopold Plea Disappoints Sightseeing Thousands

This is a view of the enormous crowd which jammed the neighborhood of the courts building when the dramatic plea was made, and a view of Richard Loeb (right) entering the courtroom under guard.

Uruguay Models Schools After U. S., Eager for Closer Bonds, President Tells I. N. S. Writer

SENDS HIS GREETINGS TO THE UNITED STATES

HON. JOSE SERRATO

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 23.—Interviewing the President of Uruguay was as pleasant as it was easy.

Down here in Latin America there is a word that means a great deal, "simpatico." One of the greatest compliments that can be paid to anyone is to say that he is simpatico. It means that he is genial and cordial and sympathetic and is possessed of a broad understanding of the problems of his neighbors.

Hon. Jose Serrato, the President of Uruguay, is simpatico.

A man of extensive culture, an engineer by profession, kind, sweet minded, winning his way into the hearts of everyone, including those of the opposing political party, conducting the affairs of his country for the benefit of the people, maintaining a quiet dignity that is very impressive, but so cordial in manner as to make one feel at home directly he begins to speak—that is the impression the President made upon me.

Gets Private Audience

I was introduced by Senor Eduardo Ferreira, the editor of Imparcial, the big afternoon newspaper of Montevideo, which announces itself as "Diario Independiente de la tarde" (an independent afternoon newspaper) and it really is that. Senor Ferreira is the warm personal friend of the President, and merely a request from him secured the private audience with the head of this important government.

Past the guard standing at attention, through the throng of diplomats, army and navy officers, Senor Ferreira and I went and directly into the office of the President. Of course we were there by appointment.

President Serrato, rather a tall man, advanced to greet us, and after a hearty handshake of welcome invited us to sit beside him upon the settee.

For Free Education

Naturally the first question that I asked was with regard to public education, because I have always been of the opinion that education is the foundation stone of patriotism. Therefore, when the President had signified his willingness to answer, I asked first:

"Would you, Mr. President, be kind enough to state what free public education in both Uruguay and the United States will do for the future of both countries and what will be accomplished by it for both?"

"How happy I am that you have made this your first question," replied the President of Uruguay. "There is no embarrassment in answering. On the contrary I am glad that you have mentioned a matter which has first place in the hearts of all of us who concern ourselves with the uplift of humanity. I take great pride in aligning myself with the movement for better education, not only because of my vocation as an engineer and a teacher, not only because of the fact that I have since my youth espoused the cause of education, but also because I know, as President of the Republic, realize the importance of promoting the culture of our people, and for this culture we turn gladly and willingly to the great United States of America with full confidence in her as the model for our activities.

"Programs of education in the United States have been and are matters of deep study among us because they reveal the preferences of the thinkers of your country with admirable truthfulness and give solid and undoubted base for the characters and aspirations of every nation.

Modeled After U. S.

"Imitating your country we have given special care to those studies that make real citizens in Uruguay. If it be true that we have not reached the full realization of our desires (because in education, as well as in other problems of men, there is always something left to be done) it is also true that we do not economize in our efforts to accomplish it. Consequently I say with pride that we are giving free schooling, by means of the most scientific methods of education, in all universities and subordinate schools. We are preparing men for general culture, others for the bar, others for medicine, architecture and engineering, and, what is equally as important, we are providing for popular education among the workmen, the laborers and the industrialists so that all classes of our citizens have given ot them an opportunity to fit themselves at the expense of the State (and to the advantage of the State) [illegible] their future professions."

President Serrato leaned back on the sofa, giving me the impression that he had said what he wanted to say about the subject of education. But I had another thing that I wanted him to talk about, and it had considerably to do with the matter of commerce between the two countries.

"Mr. President," I said, "you cannot possibly imagine how anxious the people of the United States are to become 'simpatico' with the people of South America. In our efforts we are making Spanish a compulsory study in many of our schools. Do you consider this to be a benefit for the future relations between your country and mine?"

Should Learn Spanish

"Certainly, I do," he replied with great emphasis. "An increased knowledge of the Spanish language in the United States will most positively simplify the communications between the two countries, just as the diffusion of English among Latin-Americans will aid in surmounting the obstacles that stand between us, and permit us to unite in friendship's grasp with the great and kind Republic of the North. And this is not an idle dream but a thing most easily to be accomplished. The commercial relations that you maintain with South America are very close and very friendly. These relations make necessary a complete facility of communication and understanding; they demand frank harmony, loyalty of conception and the affection of a common interest. The citizens of Uruguay are happy in pledging themselves to a more complete understanding of these communications.

"Recently I made a visit to the Crandon Institute of Montevideo, one of our educational centers that has attained great prestige, and there I was able to see and understand the manner in which the United States takes care of the educational problem, considering it not merely as a matter of the instruction of children, but as a problem to be solved between countries that owing to their geographical situations, their common youth, their brains and their splendid energies are called upon to maintain the same political and commercial relations. Need I say that the two countries exemplified at Crandon Institute, in the lecture that I heard, were the United States and Uruguay?

"However, no matter what public instruction means or education signifies for the United States of North America, so far as the world is concerned, there is but one importance that justifies the attention now being paid to our Great Republic of the North, and that justification is that he require that it contribute to that advancement desired by all of us who have our thoughts and eyes fixed on the future of the nations—nations that are marked by their honest wealth, their cool temperament, their desire for work, their wish for tranquility and progress, and nations who are anxious to co-operate for the greatest blessing that can be offered to humanity at the present time, the Kingdom of Perfect Peace.

Have Mutual Interest.

"Whatever efforts, therefore the United States can put forth to make effective the commercial and political cordiality that unites these republics will be of great benefit to all of us because we are both vitally interested in the upbuilding of our respective peoples by the only legitimate means

MILLIONAIRES' SONS "CRIME FOR THRILL" REVIEWED IN COURT

CRIMINAL COURT ROOM, CHICAGO, July 23.—The need of large sums with which to satisfy gambling debts was the motive in the slaying of Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, it was charged here today in the opening address of State's Attorney Crowe, at the hearing which may send the boys to the gallows for the killing.

Prosecutor Crowe did not dwell on this supply of a motive in the "crime for a thrill" but continued on tracing the developments of the case and outlining the evidence in the hands of the prosecution.

"Private Evidence"

During this recital came the first information in the hands of prosecution of which so far no intimation has been made public.

Attorney Crowe, interrupting his address, advised the court that "certain evidence will be offered privately inasmuch as its nature prevents its recital in open court."

This evidence, attorney Crowe said, will have an important bearing on the case.

Concluding his address, attorney Crowe declared the prosecution would show that all acts in the crime took place in Cook county, Ill., and that after the defense had finished the State would demand the death penalty for the defendants.

Attorney Crowe finished at exactly noon and Clarence Darrow, chief of defense counsel, immediately took the floor and started his argument.

Darrow opened his address by declaring that the defense would show that the crime was not committed in the manner which has been published.

Mr. Darrow charged that public sentiment was inflamed against the defendants and that the last for their blood was racing through the nation.

He spoke but ten minutes, sometimes raising his voice so that it reached above the courtroom, but mainly speaking in a quiet tone.

When he had finished, the prosecution called Jacob Franks but some delay followed and during the wait Edward M. Gresher, an uncle of Robert Franks, was called and sworn.

Father On Stand

He was asked to tell of being taken by two newspaper men to the undertaker's where Robert Franks body had been taken. After his visit there has been established, Crowe asked him to describe the body.

Jacob Franks then took the stand.

After establishing his identity and place of residence the prosecution asked about the condition of his son on May 21, the day before the murder.

This finished, the prosecution next asked:

"And where did you next see your son?"

Mr. Franks faltered—coughed and said slowly but clearly: "At the morgue."

Mr. Franks then identified shoes and a stocking which his son had on the day of the murder. He held the State's exhibit lovingly and seemed reluctant to hand them back.

The "George Johnson" ransom letter writen to Mr. Franks demanding ten thousand dollars for the safe return of his son was identified by Mr. Franks and then read into the evidence.

The letter, the State charges, was written by Leopold, alias "George Johnson".

At 12:30 while Mr. Franks was

Philadelphia Nurse Confesses to Slaying Unwanted Child and Placing Body in Suitcase Addressed to Camden, N. J., Man

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—Authorities today are investigating the story told the police at Darby, a suburb, last night, by Elizabeth Serber, 29, a nurse, how she smothered her new born baby a week ago, packed the body in a suit case, checked it at the Camden, N. J., R. R. station and then sent a note to the alleged father of the child telling him to claim the body.

The body was discovered when a youth called for the suit case. He said he had been sent for it by John Savage, of Camden, N. J., to whom Serber is alleged to have sent the receipt check.

"I didn't want the baby," she is said to have told the police. "So I decided to smother it the day it was born. As soon as I was able, I pressed one hand over its mouth and pressed the other over its chest. It died without a cry."

THE CHANGING "SOLID SOUTH"

An inevitable change is impending in the political complexion of the Solid South. The nomination of John W. Davis will hold it in the Democratic ranks in the coming election because he represents so largely the present social temper of the South. It was quite generally admitted that the nomination of Governor Smith would have caused a rift there in the coming election. But there are many signs that the hatreds and prejudices engendered by the Civil War will not persist much longer.

Everybody knows that the present construction of the Democratic party is an anomalous affair. The Southern type has little in common with his Democratic brother in the North. The Southern banker and business man are still Democrats, but how little they are in accord with the type of men and women who in the main constitute the Democratic party of the North has long been apparent, and became much more apparent in the rivalry between Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith.

The industrial growth of the South in recent years is making for common interests with the industrial North. As this development continues they will have to work together in the political sphere. Men like Senator Underwood of Alabama and Governor Ritchie of Maryland find themselves in Congress and elsewhere lined up with men who represent the industrial interests of the North.

The last session of Congress, much as it has been condemned, expresses a truer sentiment than if it had voted distinctly on party lines. Constituencies spoke on public questions affecting the social and industrial life of distinctly marked groups through their representatives regardless of parties. This is bound to become more noticeable; and we can hardly find cause for discouragement in the matter. But inevitably it must make for a realignment.

The present political alignment in both the Democratic and Republican parties is unnatural and contradictory; and the sooner the Solid South breaks up, the better will it be for party governments. It will not come, as we have said, in the coming election; but if the present development continues in the South, and the memory of the Civil War fades into the dimmer past, it cannot be long delayed.

STORMS AND TORNADOES

There has rarely been a year when the elements have been more boisterous and destructive than they have this year. All the spring and early summer the rainfall, though averaging much less than in other years, has beaten with such violence and has come in such volume that a great deal of havoc has been wrought.

The tornado which did so much damage in this region has had lesser counterparts in other parts of the country. Only the other day the region around Boston was visited by one of these wild storms, causing great damage to property and in some cases to life. We have been in the habit of thinking of these violent storms as occurring in remote places. This year we have found them in our own midst.

The atmospheric conditions which cause these storms are all well known, but how to prevent the recurrence of them is quite another matter. There are some things which man can prevent. But the only way to escape the effect of a tornado, so far as we know now, is a storm cellar and a type of construction so strongly put together as to defy any forces which may be thrown against it.

PEOPLE HAVE NO TAX BURDEN

Found, the country where there are no taxes. The principality, Liechtenstein, consists of sixty-five square miles. It is governed by a prince who is reputed to be enormously wealthy. He is so wealthy that he keeps his 12,000 subjects free of taxes and public debt. Some times we hope to visit this country and see its people. According to countless predictions they should be among the happiest in the world. "Their burden is light." We have misgivings, about them, however. We venture to say that they believe they have as much reason to be unhappy as any other people on this earth. We believe they would furnish ample proof that paternalism doesn't guarantee happiness. The reason we firmly believe this is that the people of this country have not gained a reputation for possessing great and lasting happiness. Yet they are in the central part of Europe and thousands of American tourists touch on their borders every year. Yes, if they were happier than any other people we believe that we would have hard of it. It would have been like Columbus' discovery of America or as Ponce de Leon's news would have been if he had found the fountain of eternal youth.

DISASTER AWAITS EUROPE IF DAWES PLAN FAILS, DECLARES BANKER

In the adoption of the Dawes plan by the Allies lays the salvation of Europe avers Fred. I. Kent, president of the Bankers Trust Co. of New York City and member of the committee of experts which devised the plan and failure to put it into effect would mean disaster to finance, trade and commerce.

He declared in an address that if the plan was not carried out the reaction on business in the United States would be "more severe than anything which has happened since the war."

"The plan carries within it so much common sense that it is hardly conceivable that sufficient force can be arrayed against it to prevent its being put into operation."

The diverse political forces which must first be brought into accord to assure an international loan to Germany if the plan is to be effective are the chief obstacles in the way of its adoption according to Mr. Kent. He predicted that if the plan was put into operation stability of currency would be restored to European countries and normal international trade resumed.

"If the plan were refused, France and Belgium would continue their hold upon the Ruhr," he continued. "All European exchanges would be subjected to further serious shocks. Trade and commerce would be dealt terrific blows and might for a time be confined to necessities and the progress toward better conditions which has been made since the armistice might be dissipated almost overnight.

"Should the Dawes report be accepted by the Allies and Germany and become operative, a very different set of conditions can be expected to prevail. The object of the Dawes plan is to place Germany in position to stabilize its currency and balance its budget and undertake the payment of reparations under conditions which will not result in another breakdown and that will allow Germany to resume her production trade and commerce on a sound basis and one which can be expected to continue."

If a German loan was offered in America, he said, "it can be considered as being good, for it will never be issued until American international bankers are satisfied with its provisions and have good reason to believe that it is sound. This will mean that in their opinion the Dawes plan has been made operative under circumstances that will insure its success, that satisfactory arrangements have been made as to the withdrawal of France and that peace is assured in so far as such an accomplishment is posible."

"Laws which have been passed since the armistice that have come from misled masses have made life difficult in many countries, and our own United States has not escaped. In Congress and in our State Legislatures many bills have been passed that have only added to the burdens of our people."

He believed that the change which would come after Europe had returned to normal financial and commercial conditions would allay these tendencies.

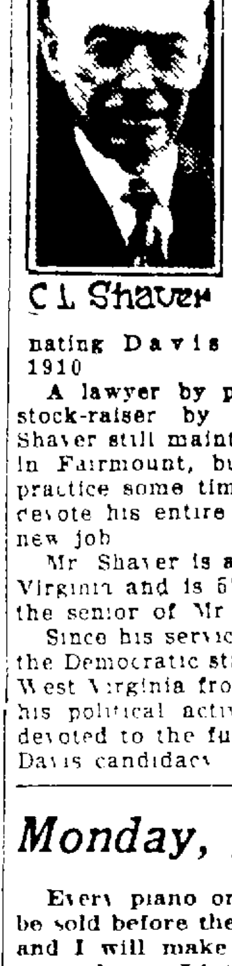
WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

CLEM L. SHAVER

"The original Davis man" is what they call Clem L. Shaver, the new chairman of the Democratic national committee. For Shaver is just that.



He has been a Davis man ever since he and the Democratic nominee for the presidency were serving their political apprenticeships in West Virginia many years ago. The two men were chairmen of committees in adjoining counties, Davis in Harrison and Shaver in Marion. The contact they began led to Shaver nominating Davis for congress in 1910.

A lawyer by profession and a stock-raiser by avocation, Mr. Shaver still maintains a law office in Fairmount, but ceased active practice some time ago. He will devote his entire attention to his new job.

Mr. Shaver is a native of West Virginia and is 57, just six years the senior of Mr. Davis.

Since his service as charman of the Democratic state committee of West Virginia from 1912 to 1920, his political activities have been devoted to the furtherance of the Davis candidacy.

ATH OF NOTED MAGICIAN RECALLS CIVIL WAR TALES

Lincoln Knew Him and Put Him Through Tricks That Made Houdini Famous in Subsequent Years

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—Another of the frail links connecting the present generation with the stirring days of the Civil war was broken here in the death of Horatio G. Cooke, friend of President Lincoln and who claimed to have witnessed the assisination of Lincoln.

Known professionally as Maj. Harry Cooke, "the American wizard," Cooke was the organizer and honorary perpetual president of the Los Angeles Society of Magicians, following forty years of experience as an entertainer and exposer of fraudulent methods used by fake "mediums."

Soldier Protests Innocence

It was his skill as a magician which first brought Cooke to the personal attention of the subsequently martyred President. Cooke's reputation for deftness with a rope had spread among his army companions when he was summoned to the office of the secretary of war in connection with his duties. While Cooke was there President Lincoln entered and remarked:

"Well, lad, I am informed that you are rather tricky!"

Cooke, feeling that he was being reprimanded, protested his innocence of any wrongdoing.

"I thought we would make an investigation," was the President's comment. Then to Cooke's surprise, a fifty-foot clothesline was produced, and he was tied up by two generals and a senator and commanded to release himself. Cooke thus learned that knowledge of his faculty in the tricks which subsequently made Houdini famous had gone broadcast.

Cooke enlisted in the Union army at the age of eighteen years, in the second year of the Civil war, leaving the Iowa country school he had been teaching and taking eight of his former pupils into the army with him. He was born in Norwich, Conn., February 1, 1844.

Cooke's expertness with the rifle resulted in his being named a special scout, with the brevet rank of captain; while in this capacity he and his little party were ambushed and captured by Confederate guerrillas, subjected to various indignities and threatened with death. While under guard, awaiting execution in reprisal for the killing of some of the guerrillas by federal troops, Cooke's almost phenomenal ability to wriggle out of bonds enabled him to escape, release his companions and flee with them into the woods, where they wandered, half-starved, for several days, until picked up by Union cavalry.

Hears Shot That Killed Lincoln

This adventure resulted in Cooke's loss of his letter of appointment as a scout, signed by President Lincoln. In the hope of replacing the historic document Cooke called at the White House on the evening of the President's assassination and was told that the nation's executive had gone to Ford's theater for the evening.

Cooke followed him there. He had been in the theater about twenty minutes when a pistol shot was heard, and J. Wilkes Booth was seen to leap from the President's box to the stage.

With many others, Cooke remained near the house across the street from the theater to which the dying Lincoln was taken. The following morning Secretary of War Stanton, seeing him there, took him into the room where the President's body lay and permitted him to look upon the great man's face.

SLEUTH IN CROOK ROLE NABS KILLER

LURES BRAGGING SLAYER TO BOAST OF HIS CRIME

LOS ANGELES, July 23.—How C. A. McCormick, private detective and former Northwest Mounted Policeman in Canada, became a member of a gang of criminals in Los Angeles, has been revealed here.

McCormick engaged in a number of sensational hold-ups and robberies and finally obtained evidence which resulted in the conviction of Godfrey W. Cowdrey as the murderer of Joseph Langley, Los Angeles theater manager, who was killed during a hold up of one of his amusement houses.

Utilizing the knowledge obtained in a course of instruction given mounted police in Rezina, Canada, McCormick followed a long, dark trail through the underworld of Southern California and eventually learned the details of the Langley killing from the murderer's own lips.

Meeting a girl named "Tennessee," a member of a hold-up gang, at a dance hall McCormick participated in several petty hold-ups and picked numerous pockets, with the girl as his assistant. Later he was introduced by "Tennessee" to members of a hold-up gang, including Cowdrey.

With the gang of thugs the detective actually took part in at least five hold-ups, dividing the loot with his "pals."

One night both Cowdrey and McCormick bragged of their daring.

Finally Cowdrey boasted of killing a man.

Challenged for proof by the detective-hold-up, Cowdrey led McCormick to the spot where the theatre man was shot and said:

"I killed a man here—a theater manager. Here's where I got him!"

Cowdrey's braggadocio had betrayed him.

CLEVELAND, July 23.—William B. Taylor of Atlanta, Ga., director of public information for the southern division of the American Red Cross, who has followed one tornado after another around the south for a year, arrived here yesterday after a few days in Lorain.

He declared the Lorain disaster the worst he had seen.

"It was worse because it struck the city full force and almost wiped it out," said Mr. Taylor. "Most of the bad tornadoes we have had in the south have streaked across country, scattering their force, hitting a farm house or a family here and there.

Henry M. Baker, who is directing the work in Lorain, said yesterday that he had directed 100 similar jobs, but nowhere in the country had he received better co-operation than in the Lorain disaster.

NUMBER TWO

At 11:15, while Prosecutor Crowe was in the midst of his address, Judge Caverly ordered a five minutes recess and announced that it would be the custom to convene the court at 10 a. m., and holding two sessions, the first from 10 to 12:30 and the second from 1:30 to 4 o'clock.

Case Outlined.

Prosecutor Crowe told of their visit to the Harvard school where he charged Loeb went to look over the pupils, all sons of wealthy parents, with a view to determine the one whose father could best pay the $10,000 on the ransom.

They had virtually determined on John Levinson, son of a prominent Chicago attorney, Crowe said, and retired to Leopold's house to obtain field glasses thru which, from a safe distance, the defendants watched the movements of their intended victim.

Only the fact that Levinson failed to leave the school in the way the defendants had expected he would, saved him from death, Crowe declared. The defendants then, he said, turned their attention to other possible victims and finally settled on Franks, who happened to be the last student to leave the school.

"They enticed their victim into the car," Crowe continued, "turned their machine into a side street where the boy's cries would not be heard and beat him four times over the head with a chisel. Then he was dragged back from the front seat, a gag shoved down his throat and a hand held over his mouth and nose, until life left the body.

"Then fearful that their car would be stopped while the body still was in it, they secured two revolvers, determined to shoot any citizen or police officer who might attempt to halt them. And only because no one did attempt to stop it is the reason we do not have another murder charge against them today."

The attorney then traced the disposal of the body, the losing of the glasses and the pouring of the hydro chloric acid over young Franks' features which he said was done by Loeb. Water in the drain, into which the body was placed, the attorney said, washed away most of the acid and prevented the burning which it had been expected would be accomplished.

CHARGE BRIBES PAID AT CANTON

Testifies In Trial of Former Safety Director That Vice Squad Collected For "Protection"

CANTON, O., July 23.—When E. E. Curtis, serving as safety director thought that the vice squad, alleged to have been receiving $50 a week for observing the rules for protection of bootleggers and gamblers was collecting protection money on its own account, a charge was made and a new squad was named which received $140 a week, Harry Bouklias testified Tuesday afternoon in the Curtis bribery trial.

Bouklais who asserts he was the collector and fixer for Curtis, was on the witness stand all day and his examination was continued when court resumed Wednesday morning at 8:30. Judge A. W. Agler advanced the starting time half an hour in order to speed up the trial.

It was during his cross-examination under questioning by attorney Luther Day that Boukllas discussed his payments to members of vice squad.

"I paid policeman Davis $50 a week while he was on the vice squad," Bouklias said. "He was on the squad for about two months with Winton and King. I never paid any money either to Winton or King.

"Ed told me somebody was collecting money on his own account and accused me of it. I had a talk with Davis and we removed that vice squad. They lost their jobs on the squad but are still on the police force as far as I know.

"Then we appointed Steve Skotnicky, Lentz and Murphy. I paid Skotnicky $70 a week for himself and gave him $30 for Lentz but I have heard that Lentz never got the money."

NOON STOCK LEAD

NEW YORK, July 23.—Standard Oil and motor stocks joined with the coppers to make another active and buoyant market in the early trading on the New York stock exchange today. A few of the independent oils, representing companies which are supposed to be in the strongest financial condition, and able to weather the present overproduction storm, also joined the upward movement. Not so much prominence was given the railroad stocks, though they were almost uniformly strong, while steel stocks reacted to the order of the Federal Trade Commission abolishing the so-called Pittsburgh-Plus system for determining steel prices.

United States steel declined to 101 1-2 early in the session, at which price a fairly large volume of sales were made. Independent steels, though not affected by the order to the same extent as the steel corporation, also showed a reactionary tone.

The best prices on the movement were recorded by Anaconda, Cerro de Pasco, Chile, Utah and American smelters in copper.

The dismissal of the minority preferred stockholders suit against Reading was an important factor in the buying of that stock today. At 9 they were up more than a point to the highest level since the dissolution of the parent company and the coal property. The combined selling prices of the two stocks today was around 108, against a high of 79 prior to dissolution and a low of 718 earlier in the year.

The movement in the rails was also featured by Erie, New Haven and the Northwest roads. Erie sold above 32 today for the first time this year on moderate buying.

The Pan-Americans continued to feature the independent oil stocks, as reports of spectacular success in the extension of the retail business the company poured into the field.

Activity in the common and preferred stock of Willys-Overland was the feature of the motor group, if not the whole market. Under unusually heavy buying the preferred stock sold up two points to 71 while the common sold at nine. Consolidated Textile pushed through to 5 3-8 for the highest price on the movement.

within our knowledge, by which I mean generous interpretation, comprehensive knowledge and mutual loyalty."

"Mr. President," I said, "I cannot refrain from injecting into the interview you are so kindly giving me a matter of much concern in the United States at present, and therefore I ask if you believe that a fair reform in the customs tariffs of both countries would help in attaining the end of increased trade?"

The President smiled.

"It would," he replied, "if the reform were posible. However, it is not posible at present either in your country or here. In your country there are interests of great power that would oppose any movement in that direction. The United States has a protection policy which prevents it from making any concessions to foreign commerce or industry. On the other hand, Uruguay needs its customs tariff, because with the income derived from that source we take care of a part of our budget. Also we agree that it is indispensable to give to labor sufficient advantage in its fight with the exterior to guarantee to labor a living wage.

"So, for these two reasons, both of them economic and both of them worthy of the most serious attention, the reduction of the tariff at this time is impossible."

Americans Welcome.

"And regarding immigration," I asked. "Could you favor me with an expression of your opinion upon this dangerous question?"

"Certainly," he replied. "My desire is that the United States send the greatest number possible of its sons to us. So would be established a current of communication that would make us know and appreciate each other better, thereby increasing the number of United States steamers that lie in the River Platte. Our frontiers are open to all those who want to work. The United States, for very just cause, limits the immigrants that knock at its doors. Uruguay welcomes all who wish to contribute their intelligence and their brawn to the upbuilding of our nation. The only thing requested is correct conduct, respect for law and reverence for our institutions."

"Mr. President," I said in closing the interview, "you have spoken beautifully of the people of my country and have exalted our position among the nations. May I ask for International News Service the privilege of sending to the people of our country through their magnificent press the salutations of you and your great people and may we of the United States count upon you as being among the number of our great and prominent friends?"

"Not only do I so authorize you," he responded, "but I wish to dedicate to your simpatico people an autographed photograph which I hope you will be kind enough to transmit to the great American Nation."

Shot in the chest, Williafs had Kruze arrested on the charge of shooting to kill.

At the trial, Williams testified:

DEFIANCE, July 23.—Matrimonial barks ran on the rocks of the Defiance county divorce courts in increased numbers during the last 12 months while a less number of nuptial skiffs were launched. This situation is revealed in annual reports of the probate and common pleas courts to Secretary of State Thad H. Brown. Fifty one divorces were granted, compared with thirty-eight the preceeding year. Only 169 licenses to wed were recorded, in contrast with 189 marriage rights granted the previous year.

A Message to Partocular Women of Elyria

If you will get from your druggist a six ounce bottle of Kojene, which costs but 60 cents at C. W. Phillips' and progressive druggists everywhere, you will learn some very important truths about feminine hygiene that will prove a revelation to you.

Kojene is not poisonous—you can drink it with safety, yet as an antiseptic it is four times as powerful as Carbolic Acid and much more powerful than bichloride of mercury, both of which are a menace to any home and should be banished from it.

Money back if you don't say Kojene is the most wonderful antiseptic in the world.—Advertisement.

ABBEY ROAD RESIDENT GIVES STOMIA CREDIT

PAINS AND HEADACHES ALL GONE NOW, SAYS MR. SCHROEDER

"Prior to taking Stomia everything I ate soured on my stomach and formed a gas that bloated me up. There was a pain in my right side constantly and I suffered from severe headaches.

"The gas became so bad when I ate that I tried doing with as little food as I could stand. Then my appetite went back on me entirely and nothing tempted it. My body felt tired and run down and I became rather despondent.

"Stomia seemed to be doing other people so much good that I resolved to try it myself and the results were surprising. I feel just fine now for the gas no longer bothers me and it seems I'm always hungry. The headaches and pains in the side are gone and the world looks like a good place to live in again. I certainly give all the credit to Stomia for it did more for me than I ever expcted it to."

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

The chums had heard water running somewhere. As they were thirsty, Billy walked to the cellar steps and was half way up, with Stubby and Button just behind him, when they heard some one exclaim, "Chester, come quick! Come quick! The water is running in the sink, and the cellar floor is flooded."

This was followed by the loud laughter of two people.

"Whatever shall we do?" said a girl's distressed voice.

"Get a mop and mop it up!" replied a boy.

"But the mop is in the cellar, and I'll get my feet wet if I cross the floor to go to the cellar. Besides, I have on my best white shoes."

"Where to you keep the broom? That will do."

"Behind the kitchen door, usually, but with the house all torn up with housecleaning, I don't know where it is."

"I'll find it. You stay out of the room so you won't get wet."

"Who ever would have thought that just because I happened to set that coffee pot over the hole in the sink it would make it overflow?"

"No one would," answered the boy. "And here is all this mess just because we hadn't any sense and tried to cool a bottle of ginger ale by setting it in the coffee pot and letting the water run on it."

The three listeners on the stairs heard him get the broom from behind the kitchen door.

"Where are you going to sweep the water?" asked the girl.

"Down the cellar stairs! It won't hurt anything down there," and before Billy, Stubby or Button could move, a deluge of water struck them full in the face, blinding them and sousing them from the tips of their noses to the ends of their tails.

This made Button sneeze, and he climbed back to the top of the boxes. Billy turned on the stairs, but before he could really face about, another sweep of the broom sent a second deluge on him, and blinded by water and mad with rage, he rushed up the stairs to escape it. Instead of getting out of the way, he ran straight into the boy who was sweeping, which surprised the boy so that he let go the broom handle and it, too, flew out of his hands and hit Billy on the head. This made Billy so angry that he jumped for the boy and butted him straight into the sink, where he sat down in the overflowing basin. The girl, too panic-stricken to move, stood in the doorway wringing her hands and crying, "Don't butt me, Mr. Billy Goat! I didn't do a thing!"

(But Billy is angry and we will have to wait till tomorrow to see if he does.)

Try and keep from laughing when you see this march of merriment!

It can't be done.

From title to tailpiece, there are comedy situations!

"Flip Flops"

THEATRES

Rivoli—"Try and Get It," a picture full of comedy with plenty of heart interest. Real spontaneous humor is not as common as one might expect, on the screen, but here it is in large doses. Then there is a very pretty love story, and for the women, fashions galore. In addition there is a fine comedy and feature picture.

Grand—The "Enchanted Cottage," with Richard Barthelmess and May McAvoy. Love, they say, is perfect when it is in a cottage. This is a picture of rare beauty and artistry, a picture enchanting, fascinating and one that will charm with its magic spell. Seldom does one see a finer one on the screen. Also a good comedy.

State Briefs

ATHENS, July 23.—A burglar broke into the home of Mrs. John Lostro near the Ohio University campus and frightened a number of girl student roomers into hysterics. Miss Bernice Harris, a university co-ed, awoke to find the man standing in her room. When he threatened her with death if she screamed she collapsed and was in a serious condition for some hours. But she screamed first and the man fled.

NELSONVILLE, July 23.—An agreement on mining conditions which, it is believed will enable many of the mines of the Hocking valley to resume was reached during a joint conference of representatives of miners and operators at Logan. Heavy penalties are provided if miners load dirty coal. Mine owners can drive narrower entries. The basic wage, of the miner is not affected, however.

POMEROY, July 23.—Farm bureau experts after looking over the district, find the best corn in this part of Ohio is on the McKelvey Bros. farm in the Portland Bottoms. This corn, now seven feet tall and tasseling out, was planted May 12, a month before most corn in this section was planted.

BETHESDA, July 23.—The Kennedy Garage company here holds a judgment for $2,700 for the largest taxi bill ever recorded in Eastern Ohio. The award for this amount has been entered in the Belmont county common pleas court against F. W. Brown, radio accessories company promoter, who was lodged in the Jefferson county jail, accused of passing a bad check. The bill stated that Brown used the company's taxis an average of 41 miles a day for 485 days at 13 cents a mile. The bill, at one time exceeded $3,500, it was said. Brown's unpaid loans were held responsible for the wrecking of the Commercial & Savings bank here. The cashier of the bank was placed in jail for making the alleged loans.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, July 23.—The mystery of Belmont county's wool clip thefts partially solved, Prosecutor H. W. Mitchell has filed a charge of grand larceny against O. K. Hunter, of Lamira, who confessed to having committed one of the principal wool robberies. Hunter's confession followed a trip to Zanesville during which he and his brother-in-law, Marion Roberts, are said by officers to have been identified as the men who cashed a check for the Hogue farm wool at a Zanesville garage. Hunter's confession implicated, it was claimed, Roberts and another man whose name was not revealed because he was not under arrest.

OTTAWA, July 23.—The Deas in woods at Columbus Grove which, a few weeks ago, attracted publicity far and near, because of the alleged appearance of a phantom light, is to be severed in twain if the officials of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad, carry out their plan to re-locate a portion of the railroad's right of way. The new route is designed to supplant a circuitous route now being used, and to eliminate dangerous curves. BRITISHER SEES GRAVE PERIL IN EXCLUSION LAW

Hope of Enduring Peace in Pacific Blasted, Thinks General Bruce

LONDON, July 23.—Passage of the immigration law, with its Japanese execution clause, by the congress of the United States has sounded the death knell of any immediate hope of enduring peace in the Far East, according to Brigadier-General C D Bruce, a leading British authority on Oriental problems.

"Beneficial results achieved by the Washington Conference, General Bruce believes, have been negatived, and the whole question of Far East relations again thrown into the troubled sea of international politics

"It will, indeed, be the irony of fate," writes General Bruce, in the current issue of the Asiatic Review, "if the nation to whose initiative was due the one concrete effort to produce peace by reducing armaments should be the nation to postpone for at least another generation any hope of permanent peace in the Far East Yet America's action over the new immigration law can have no other effect

"By this it is not suggested that war in the Pacific is imminent, but that any faint hope which existed of the permanency of work done by the Washington Conference has been blown away like sea mist on a summer morning."

Admit Right.

General Bruce proceeds to state what is generally admitted by all British commentators who have discussed the new immigration law—namely, that America's right to pass such laws cannot be questioned. Nor, General Bruce adds, can it be suggested that Americas is to blame. The crux of the matter, he declares, is the seeming afront to Japanese pride of race and position

"Any question becomes politically dangerous when it involves the self-respect of a proud and sensitive people like the Japan'-ese," General Bruce continues. "When, also, the question is of such national importance, as to unite as one man othewise irreconcilable parties in the body politic, no other nation can, in these days of rapid intercommunication pretend to be indifferent."

Sees Motives.

In an attempt to analyze the cause of "America's precipitate action," General Bruce suggests three possible motives.

"Is it simply race hatred—in other words, the color question?" he asks "Is it the unarguable, age-long antipathy between East and West? Or is it merely the economic impossibility of mixing both in one country under similar conditions and laws? It is probable that the latter of these suggested causes is nearer the truth, though it can hardly be denied that something of the spirit of all three permeates today and the anti-Japanese feeling in America."

Japan's admitted need for an outlet for her surplus population is one of the causes of her resentment against exclusion from the United States, Australia and other "white" countries, General Bruce believes, but the main cause, so far as Japanese national feeling toward the United States is concerned, is the "method chosen by America to enforce this doctrine" Future consequences, he believes, will be far reaching

"Whirlwind" Coming

"To sow seeds of ultimate conflict between two friendly nations as part of a political campaign is only later on to reap the whirlwind," General Bruce concludes, after pointing out that the exigences of the present political campaign in the United States may have influenced the action of Congress "Anti-Japanese feeling on the Pacific Coast goes deeper than any passing political wave. It has aptly been described as the most tremendous problem confronting the world It is neither more nor less than that."

GOOD-BYE FAT

LOST 43 POUNDS in 7 WEEKS--French Discovery Works out Wonders--Simple, Easy Way is Explained to You FREE.

"At last I kissed good by to the ugly rolls of fat which burdened me for years—to-day I am a new woman, filled with pep and energy. No more tired feeling, backache, pains nor ills—no more puffing—no more trouble getting clothes to fit me—from a 'wall flower' I became one of the most popular girls in my set, now I have friends galore, and everyone admires my looks and envies my health I am convinced from the results I have obtained and from the cases of several people I know, that any man or woman burdened with ugly, unhealthy fat can now easily, safely and surely lose it all, regain a slender figure and at the same time improve their health 100 per cent, with this marvelous new French discovery For years I had tried everything known to reduce, without success. One day I met Madame Elaine of 350 West 31st street, New York City. She explained to me what I should do to reduce The result was that in less than seven weeks I had lost 43 pounds. I DID NOT HAVE TO USE DANGEROUS DRUGS—WEAKENING EXERCISES OR DIETS—I DID NOT RUB MYSELF WITH ABSURD CREAMS, NOR DID I WEAR PAINFUL REDUCING GARMENTS. This discovery is simple, easy, safe. With it you can either lose 10 pounds or 100 pounds. All you need to do is to go to any good drug store get a package of SAN GRI NA and take 2 small tablets before each meal. SAN GRI-NA is GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS—cannot injure your health, in any way; on the contrary, after I took SAN GRI NA my entire system felt stronger, my food digested better—no more bloating, headaches, nor puffing—with your excess fat melting away you should find yourself filled with ambition and energy. Remember, that Madame Elaine herself lost 50 pounds in 2 months with this wonderful SAN GRI-NA I have lost over 43 pounds in 7 weeks, and I know of hundreds of women in New York and Paris who are keeping their figures slender and attractive with this most wonderful discovery for the reduction of excess fat. You are bound to use it some day—why not to-day'—(Mrs. G. B., N. Y. City.")

SAN-GRI-NA is now sold at Ebert's, Crandall's, or Bower's Drug Stores.—Advertisement.

What the Men on the Truck Forced Madge to Do.

WITH the automatic reaction which every motorist has to a blowout, I swerved the car to the side of the road and prepared to stop the engine. Then, as a second thought came to me, I sent the car back again into the road, discarding the impulse to get out and attempt, with Mamie's help, to change the tire for the spare fastened at the rear of my car.

In the first place, the aid of the girl beside me was something I could not enlist. If she were dangerous—as Katherine had feared and I had believed just after the huge truck had passed—then I could not trust her to help me and I would not dare to relax my own watchfulness over her.

On the other hand, if Katherine and I were but the victims of inflamed imaginations, I could not bring myself to the absurdity of prosaically changing a tire with her aid, after my melodramatic threat to use my little silencer revolver if she should move from the posture in which I had directed her to sit.

There was but one thing to be done under these circumstances, and that was to go on, trusting to luck that I might meet or pass some one who would give me a hand. So I sent the car along in the wobbly careening fashion, which only a collapsed tire can effect, while I scanned the road before me, hoping against hope that I might see someone to whom I could appeal for aid.

A Jovial Greeting.

Of course, I did not dare go nearly so fast as I had done, and as I realized that darkness was fast coming, I had hard work to keep my body rigid and my hands firmly upon the wheel. Then from the rear sounded the ear-splitting screech which only a truck siren can give. Wondering whether I would dare signal for aid I hugged the side of the road while a huge truck went lumbering by.

As I caught a glimpse of the men upon it, my heart descended to my heels and stopped there only because it could get no farther.

For the truck was the same one we had met but a little while before, and it had no sooner passed than with a quick warning gesture of the driver's hand he slowed down and then deftly swinging the huge machine half across the road so that to pass it was almost an impossible thing for me, he put on his brakes, though leaving the engine running and with his companions jumped to the ground and came running back to our car.

I bit my lower lip in the effort to keep from screaming or fainting. Then as the men's voices sounded in jovial, friendly greeting, I wondered if I were the victim again of my own imagination.

"Hello, Mamie!" one of them called, the one to whom Mamie had waved, and the man at his side supplemented his hail by accosting me.

"Look Out! She's Got a Gun!"

"What's the matter, Sister? Got a blowout? Don't you want some help?"

I was about to stammer out my thanks when Mamie squirmed like an eel out of the seat by my side and running to the man who had spoken to her began to talk to him rapidly and angrily, accompanying her words by gestures toward me which left me in no doubt as to the unfriendly nature of the tale she was telling him.

The other men cut short their advance toward the car and clustered around her. But I noticed that not for one instant was I outside the espionage of at least one pair of eyes.

Mamie's voice ceased, indeed it was cut short by a rough:

"Cheese it, now! You've spilled all we need to know," from one of the men, and then there was a brief muttered colloquy among the men before they turned to me.

"I'll trouble you to step out of that there car, Ma'am, and be quick about it," one of them growled, and from somewhere I gathered the courage to retort spiritedly:

"Indeed, I shall do no such thing. You have no right to interfere with me, and I shall report both you and this girl to the nearest police."

They answered me with a loud guffaw, and one of them ejaculated:

"Police! My left eye! That's good! She talks as if she had 'em sewed up in her pocket."

The laughter lasted, however, but an instant, and two of the men started to open the door of the car.

"Of course, if you'd rather we'd drag you out," one of them said indifferently, "we can accommodate you. It sure don't make no difference to us, whether you land on the ground standing nice or in a heap."

I yielded to the inevitable promptly.

"I'll get out quietly," I said, and with one hand unostentatiously resting upon my concealed silencer revolver, I stepped out of the car and before they could stop me, slid around it so that its body momentarily was between me and the men.

"Look out!" Mamie screeched. "She's got a gun in her pocket!"

Thousands Use This Clean, Colorless Liquid to Banish

Gray Hair

Results in a Week

If your hair is gray, don't worry about it. Do what thousands of others have done. Use the clean, colorless liquid known as Kolor-Bak and see the former color quickly return, no matter what that color was—brown, black, red, blonde.

Kolor-Bak is a proved substitute for the natural pigmentation of the hair. It is not sticky, mussy or greasy. Just as easy to use as water. With Kolor-Bak, there is no dyed, streaked look, no unevenness, and the hair becomes glossy and takes on new "life" and lustre.

People who have used Kolor-Bak give reports like the following:

"It restored the natural color to my hair and cured my little girl of dandruff."

"My hair was perfectly white—now brown as when young."

"My hair began to turn natural color in twelve days."

"Hair was streaked with white. Now black once more and dandruff all gone."

Kolor-Bak is not only a color restorer, but a valuable hair tonic. It cleanses the scalp, removes dandruff and prevents the hair from becoming brittle and falling out.

Get rid of your grayness right now. Kolor-Bak will do it. Ask for a bottle today. Kolor-Bak is sold with money-back guarantee if results do not satisfy.

IS IT CHEAPER TO BUILD THAN TO PAY RENT?

By the Architects' Small House Bureau of the United States.

Paying rent buys only a privilege. It does not buy a dollar's worth of ownership. The rent you pay a landlord includes taxes, insurance, wear and tear on his property. In addition you must pay him a fair return on the money he has invested in the house you rent.

If you are able to save persistently, week after week, for a number of years, you not only will have a home of your own, but something more than a collection of rent receipts to show for the money you have paid out for rent.

Paying Rent Versus Ownership

For example, compare a rental charge over a period of 18 years, with the some amount of money invested in building a home of your own. Suppose you have $500 in cash to put into a $5,000 home and the balance to be paid, including all interest, in 18 years.

The Renter

Pays $50 per month rent for 18 years	$10,800.00
Interest at 6 per cent (averages 9 years)	$5,833.00
Cost of 18 years rent	$16,632.00

Remember that you still are writing checks for rent. You don't own a shingle on the house. You are 18 years older, with the possibility that your earning power is growing less.

Suppose, however, you put this $500 into the first payment on a house, and the balance payable, with all interest, in 18 years. Here is the way the proposition figures out, and to your profit:

The Home Owner

Cost of house	$5,000.00
Less cash payment	500.00
	$4,500.00
Interest for 18 yrs at 6 pc.	4,860.00
Int. on int. payments	2,624.40
Add cash payment	500.00
Int on cash payment	540.00
	$13,024.40

You will see that, including all interest, in 18 years you not only have purchased your home, but your rent is more than $3,000 less than it would have cost you if you paid for the privilege of living in a landlord's house.

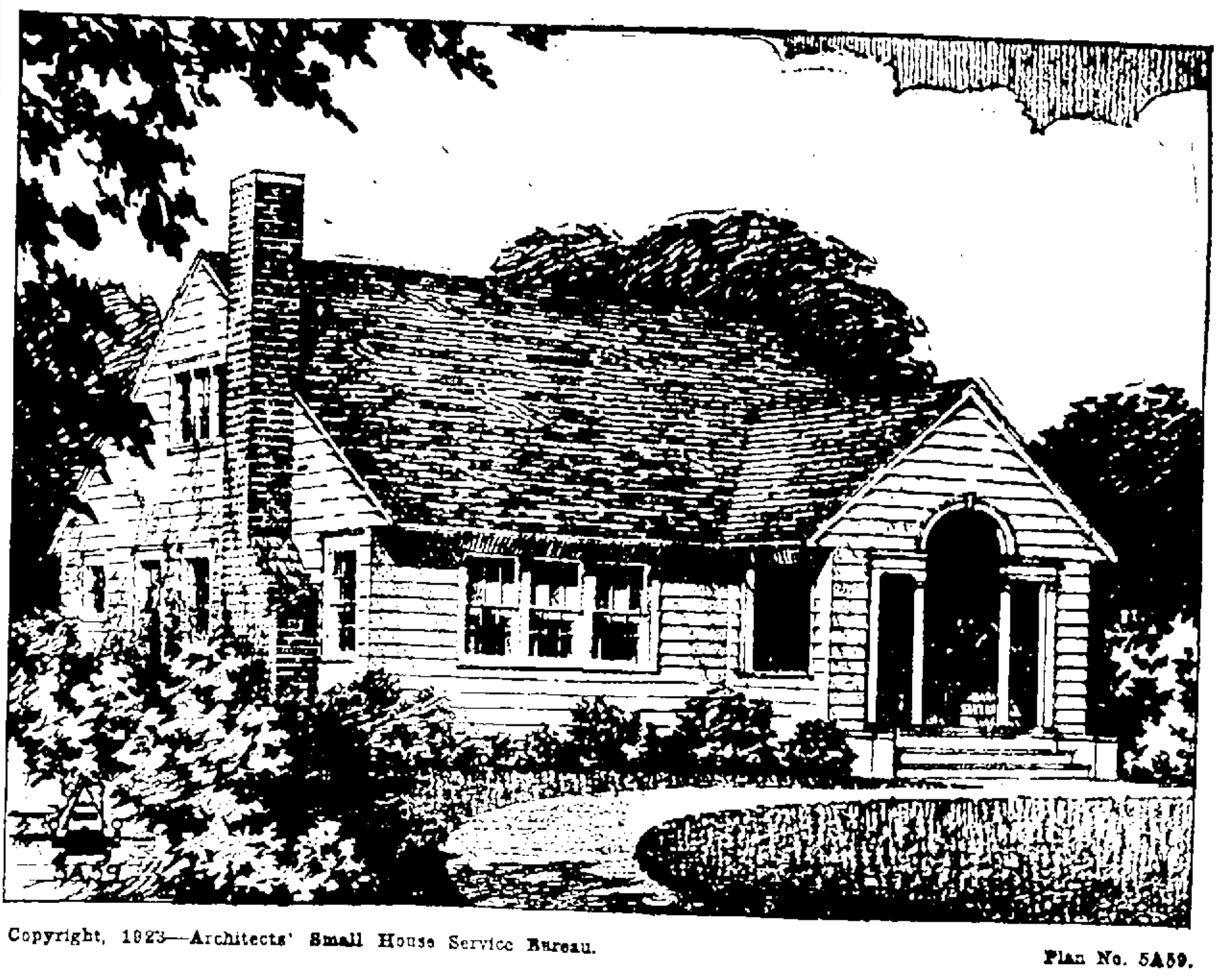
Pay for Home and Save $23,000

Mortality tables say that a man 30 years old is expected to live 35 years more. Suppose you are the man, and now paying $60 a month rent. If you continue the rest of your life, you will pay out $25,000 for which you have nothing to show.

On the other hand, suppose you have $1,000 to pay down on a home, the balance in monthly payments. As soon as you have completed payment on your home, if you will continue to save $60 per month, less the expenses on the home, such as taxes, water, upkeep and insurance, you will have $40 per month to save at compound interest, at 6 per cent for 23 years. You not only will have paid for your home, but you can leave an estate of $23,900 in cash.

If, perhaps, like thousands of people, you are wondering whether it is cheaper to build than pay rent, the above figures may assist you in making the venture and starting on the road to independence.

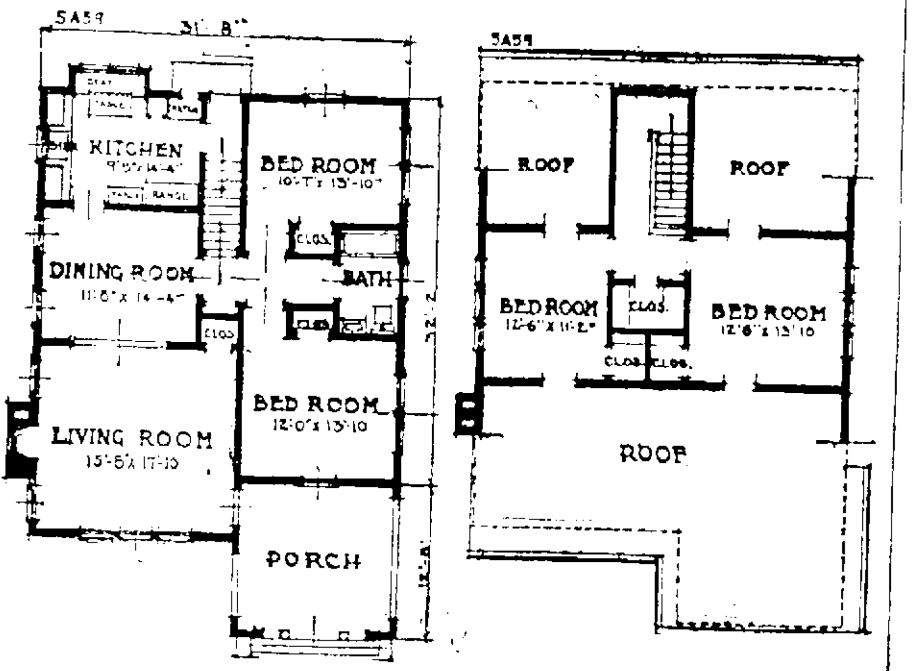
TWO EXTRA BEDROOM BUNGALOW



Copyright, 1923—Architects' Small House Service Bureau.

Plan No. 5A59.

A FEATURE of the five room Colonial bungalow illustrated here is the opportunity to provide two extra bedrooms on the second floor, if desired. Dormers can be added to the front, thus furnishing cross ventilation for these bedrooms, or to light the storage space.



The house is of frame construction, with exterior finish of siding and shingle roof, concrete foundations and cement base course. The triple-arch Palladian motif entrance to the porch is unusual.

On the first floor there is a living room, dining room, kitchen, dining alcove, two bedrooms, bath and porch. The number of closets is surprising—yet, there is no waste of essential space.

The house is designed to face south or east, and can be reversed for other facings.

A fireplace is a feature of the living room. An arched opening separates dining room from the living quarters.

The porch may be easily enclosed, if desired. It has a vaulted plaster ceiling.

The house can be placed on a 40-foot lot in most cities. It can be decreased in width if desired.

The cost to build this house, including heating, plumbing, lighting, painting, ready to live in, but not including wall decorations, should range between $6,500 to $8,000. In certain localities where costs are high, the highest figure quoted would be too low. In other localities, the lowest figure quoted would be more than sufficient. The range of $1,500 is given to cover differences in the way the house is built, how thoroughly it is equipped and completed, and in what district it is erected.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureaus of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., an organization made up of the representative practicing architects from leading architectural offices throughout the United States. This bureau is controlled by the American Institute of Architects, and has the endorsement of the Department of Commerce, United States government. It is practically a non-profit making public service, and has as its purpose the furnishing of a very complete and dependable small house plan service at moderate cost. WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose selfaddressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Q—The floor joists which have come from the lumber yard for our new house seem to be warped a little. Is it all right to use them? Can they be straightened?

A—It is natural for timbers to warp in the seasoning. They are straightened by the use of sheathing or subflooring and my means of blocking and bridging.

Q—We have an old frame house which is not insulated, but we do not care to go to the trouble of tearing down the construction to insulate it. Would it be worth while simply to insulate the roof above the attic?

A—The condition of your house would be greatly improved by insulating the ceiling of the second story.

Q—Of what does fire stopping in small homes consist? To what extent is it necessary to use it in order to obtain better insurance rates?

A—Fire stopping in frame houses consists of blocks of wood nailed across the studs and joist spaces. A more complete installation is one in which an incombustible material, such as brick or plaster in metal lath baskets, is placed about these blocks, especially at the floor levels. Incombustible material also is placed between the chimney stacks and the framing members of the floors and walls. Insurance companies do not regularly recognize fire stopping so far as decreasing the insurance rates is concerned.

Q—Is this the time to build? Will prices be lower in the spring?

A—Undoubtedly there will be price recessions in some lines and advances in others. Certain authorities on economics anticipate a slight general decrease, but it is highly problematical whether we shall get this. The period of the winter months is generally a good time to build, especially if you can afford to take some time to complete the whole operation. Reputable contractors often find it possible to shade their prices in periods of decreased building activities. Search out such a man.

Q—Is there a simple and inexpensive way of sound proofing the second floor?

A—Lay strips of cellular material on top of the joists and lay the rough flooring over these. Then put heavy felt between the rough and finish flooring. Another way is to lay cellular material over the rough flooring and fasten this down by means of strips laid between and parallel to the joists. The finish flooring can then be nailed to the wooden strips. More extensive sound proofing can be obtained by having separate ceiling and floor joists and laying sound proofing materials between them.

RICHWINES CLAIM CITY TITLE

ASSERTS CANDIES AFRAID TO PLAY; WINNERS TAKE ALL

The Richwines are claiming the city baseball title with the assertion that the team is so strong that neither the Moulton Candies nor the Wilder Cigars are willing to risk their reputation with them.

The Richwines claim they defeated the Elyria Grays 23 to 1 which the day before the Moulton Candies were able to defeat the same team by but an 8 to 6 score.

The Richwines have lost but one out of eleven games this season and claim they should have defeated the Lorain Krohns which won 4 to 2 when McMahon dropped the fly, lost in the sun, which netted two runs

The Richwines declared that they are willing to take on the Moulton Candies or the Wilder Cigars for the winner to take all the gate receipts.

The Richwines play Marion at Marion next Sunday. The Marion team won two out of three games from the I. T. S. team last year with the third game ending a tie

John McGraw's juggling act of sending most of his pitchers into every game has become quite popular with fans. For the price of one [illegible] they can get a squint at Muggsy's entire staff.

Like hired man at burlesque show, the fans want to see all there is. It doesn't matter that the home team loses as long as they see the [illegible] dress parade of McGraw's twirlers.

McGraw, showman that he is, willingly caters to this desire He is quick to realize what the fans want

The development of the slugging Hack Wilson has given the Giants an outstanding star. Fans packed the parks merely to see him [illegible] on the team's Western trip He is to the Giants what Babe Ruth is to the Yankees.

Wilson's specialty is knocking three-baggers He bids fair to [illegible] more triples than any other big leaguer this season.

Speaking of records, it looks as if Ruth may break his home-run mark this year And the Babe also has an excellent chance to [illegible] his other great ambition—to lead the league in hitting.

Lou Gehrig, Wally Pipp's understudy, now with Hartford, is emulating Ruth in the Eastern League At date of writing he was the league's leading batter with a 365 average, and had the most home runs, 20.

When Pipp begins to fade Gehrig will look like a million dollars batting after Ruth in the Yankee line-up The sight of this [illegible] swinging their war clubs should make any outfielder send an S O S call for roller skates

SPORTS DONE BY BROWN

Tommy Gibbons, the man who stepped 15 rounds—the limit—with Jack Dempsey and licked Georges Carpentier, will tackle Jack Bloomfield in London July 26. Which brings Mr. Bloomfield into the limelight a bit.

What has he done that he should want to tackle the St. Paul Mauler, many Americans are asking.

Not much except to win the title in the sadly depleted heavyweight ranks of England.

Of course his record in the U. S. on his visit four years ago, is recalled. His main claim to fame won here was his double victory over Mike McTigue. He also trounced Walter McGirr, Jack Hanlon and Johnny Howard. Nothing impressive in the list excepting his victories over the light heavyweight champion, who had not then won the unsung title.

As for his British record, Ted "Kid" Lewis gained a decision over him three years ago. Jack stopped Bombadier Wells but that old idol was long past his prime.

Bloomfield was given the heavyweight title by popular acclaim last winter following his battle with Joe Goddard. The latter was the official champion. Bloomfield gave him a lacing in a rough affair but lost on a foul just as he was about to shove over the big punch. Because of the foul Goddard still retains the title "officially" but there was no question regarding Bloomfield's superiority over the slow moving Goddard.

Bloomfield is a bit out of proportion for a good heavyweight. He stands over six feet one inch tall and weighs just 180. He is old, as fighters go, admitting 35 years of age. He is a Hebrew.

Max Carey is old and decrepit. He is playing his fourteenth year in the big show. His legs have trod many a weary mile in the Pirate outfield—always the Pirate gardens—and his eyes have searched the azure heavens (poetic stuff) for lofty flies for many bright days.

But despite all this he is still a star and the mainspring of the Pirates these days. His timely batting and his ability to score runs when tallies are needed are doing much to keep the Pirates up in the National league race.

Speaking of mainsprings, what an important cog in the Cub machine is the old, steady Grover Cleveland Alexander. The Cubs were plunging along at a great pace in the National free-for-all when Alexander was injured a while back. They won just six of the next 15 games played. No other reason apparent but the absence of Alexander. His loss forced Manager Killefer to shift his pitchers—to work Kaufmann, Jacobs, Aldrich and Keen at more frequent and more irregular intervals. This threw them off their stride. Things were messed up generally over night.

And the one thing that is needed to send the Cubs back into winning form again is the presence of Alexander on the mound, ready to take his regular turn.

* * *

Just about the time American association pitchers find time to take a few deep breaths and hold their heads up on the street Reb Russell, former White Sox pitcher and of late years slugging outfielder, goes on another batting rampage and the monkeys are off. During one of his tantrums this year he collected a homer and eight other swats in 12 trips to the plate and drew passes the other three times.

WELLINGTON SPLITS IN DOUBLE HEADER

WELLINGTON, July 23.—The Wellington Merchants playing two games, one unexpectedly, won from Amherst Sunday and lost to Akron.

The original scheduled game was with Amherst, but the Farewell Billiards of Akron also came over to play, making it necessary for the locals to play two games.

The locals won from Amherst Independents 8 to 2 and lost to Akron 13 to 4.

The first game was seven innings, the last five. Amherst got only five hits off Beavor.

At Cincinnati: Tiger Flowers won on foul by Jamaica Kid in the third of a scheduled 12 round no decision bout.

LEGAL NOTICE
Case 21369

Levi Moor, the unknown wife of Levi Moor, the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, grantors, administrators, executors, assigns and creditors of Levi Moor, deceased and of the unknown wife of Levi Moor, all of whose places of residence are unknown, and the names of the unknown heirs at law, devisees, legatees, grantors, administrators, executors, assigns and creditors of Levi Moor, deceased, and of the unknown wife of Levi Moor, being unknown, will take notice that Louis Miller, Jr., as plaintiff has filed a petition against them as defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, of Lorain County, Ohio, alleging that he, the plaintiff, is the owner in fee simple and is in undisputed possession of the following described premises, to-wit:

Situated in the Village of Avon Lake, County of Lorain and State of Ohio, and known as being part of Section No. 18, Township of Avon, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning in the center of Belden-Avon Road (also known as Avon Center Road) at its point of intersection with the Southerly line of the right of way of The Lake Shore Electric Railway Company; thence Southerly along said center line of Belden Avon Road, [illegible] feet to the Northeasterly corner of land conveyed to David Kelley by deed dated June 1, 1866, and recorded in Vol. 24, pg. 616 of Lorain County Deed Records, thence Westerly along the Northerly line of land so conveyed to David Kelley to the Northwesterly corner thereof, which point is also the Northwesterly corner of Sub Lot No. 3 of a subdivision of the Ware Farm, as shown by the recorded plat of said Subdivision in Vol. 1 of Maps, Page 35 of Lorain County Records, thence Southerly along the Westerly line of said Subdivision of the Ware Farm to the Northwesterly corner of Sublot No. 8, thereof, which Sublot was conveyed to H. G. Folger and Thomas Folger by deed dated Aug. 18, 1875, and recorded in Vol. 40, pg. 524 of the Lorain County Records, thence Easterly along the Northerly line of land so conveyed to H. G. Folger and Thomas Folger, 834.04 feet to the center line of said Belden-Avon Road, thence Southerly along said center line, 1862.15 feet to the Northeasterly corner of Sublot No. 11 of said Subdivision of the Ware Farm, which Sublot No. 11 was conveyed to David Kelley by said Deed Recorded in Volume 24, Page 616 of Lorain County Records; thence Westerly along the Northerly line of said Sublot No. 11 and Sublot No. 12, 705.96 feet; thence southerly 387.9 feet to the Southwesterly corner of that part of Sublot No. 12 of said subdivision of Ware Farm conveyed to Charles A. Buswell by deed dated January 1, 1883, and recorded in Vol. 52, page 208 of Lorain County Deed Records, which point is in the Southerly line of said Sublot No. 12, thence Westerly along said Southerly line to the Southwesterly corner thereof, which point is also the Northwesterly corner of land conveyed to Susan Matteson by Deed dated September 7, 1865, and recorded in Volume 23, page 290 of Lorain County Deed Records; thence Southerly along the Westerly line of land so conveyed to Susan Matteson 276.16 feet to the Northerly line of land conveyed to John Heckel by deed dated February 21, 1858, and recorded in Vol. 12, page 108 of Lorain County Deed Records; thence Westerly along the Northerly line of land so conveyed to John Heckel 448.60 feet to the most Easterly Southeast corner of land conveyed to William C. Watkins by deed dated September 30, 1902, and recorded in Vol. 88, pg. 446, Lorain County Deed Records; thence Northerly along the Easterly line of land so conveyed to William C. Watkins, 1396.83 feet to an offset in said Easterly line, thence Easterly along said offset, 79.2 feet to the corner thereof; thence continuing Northerly along the Easterly line of said Watkins land, 2809.18 feet to the Northeasterly corner thereof, thence Westerly along the Northerly line of land so conveyed to William C. Watkins 280 feet to the Southerly line of the right of way of The Lake Shore Electric Railway Company; thence Easterly along the Southerly line of said Right of Way, 1473.65 feet to the place of beginning, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition alleges that the defendants above named have or claim to have some interest in said premises, which is hostile and adverse to plaintiff's right, by reason of the fact that the defendant, Levi Moor, acquired title to said premises by deed dated January 3, 1831 and no deed appears of record conveying said premises from the said defendant, Levi Moor, but the petition alleges that the next conveyance of record was from Joseph Moor to Elijah Jacox, by deed dated November 14th, 1845, which deed is recorded in Volume R, page 659 of the Lorain County Records, and that from said date the above named plaintiff and his predecessors in title have been in actual, open, continuous, notorious, and adverse possession of said premises for more than twenty-one years last preceding the filing of the petition in this action, that any interest, any of said defendants ever had in said premises is barred by the Statute of Limitation and that the said defendants have no interest in said premises whatsoever.

The prayer of said petition is that the above named defendants be required to answer and set up what interest, if any they have, or claim to have, in said premises or be forever barred from asserting the same, that the plaintiff's title to said premises be quieted and for relief.

Said petition is No. 21369 and the above named defendants are required to answer the same on or before the 20th day of Sept. 1924.

LEGAL NOTICE
Case No. 21416

John W. Perigo, ——— Perigo (first name unknown) wife of John W. Perigo, and the unknown heirs and devisees of John W. Perigo deceased, defendants whose places of residence are unknown, the names of the heirs and devisees mentioned also being unknown, will take notice that on the 3rd day of July, 1924, Frank H. Ott and Julia E. Ott filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Lorain County, Ohio, Case No. 21416 against the above named parties, in which petition plaintiffs allege that they are absolute owners in fee simple and are in the actual possession of the following described real estate, to-wit.

"Situated in the Township of Ridgeville, County of Lorain and State of Ohio, and known as being a part of original Ridgeville Township Lot No. 28, and bounded and described as follows:

"Beginning at the intersection of the center line of Center Ridge Road with the center line of the Ridgeville-Lorain Road, thence South 70 degrees 20 minutes West along the center line of said Center Ridge Road 50 feet; thence North 6 degrees 6 minutes West 115.3 feet to a point; thence North 70 degrees 20 minutes East 63 feet to the center line of said Ridgeville-Lorain Road; thence Southerly along the center line of said Ridgeville-Lorain Road 113 feet to the place of beginning and containing about .145 acres of land, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways."

Plaintiffs aver that the said defendants John W. Perigo and the unknown heirs and devisees of John W. Perigo deceased claim an interest in said premises by reason of the fact that by deed dated June 16, 1864, and recorded in Volume 26, Page 87 of Deed Records of Lorain County, Ohio, said John W. Perigo acquired an interest in the said premises and that the records of said County do not show that the said John W. Perigo was ever divested of said interest.

Plaintiffs aver that deefndant ——— Perigo (first name unknown) wife of John W. Perigo, claims an interest in said premises by reason of the fact that the records of Lorain County, Ohio, do not show that she was ever divested of her dower right in the interest of said John W. Perigo acquired in said premises by said deed recorded in Volume 26, page 87 of the deed records of said county.

The prayer of said petition is that the plaintiffs may be decreed to be the owners in fee simple of the above described premises free and clear of any and all claims of the defendants John W. Perigo, ——— Perigo (first name unknown) wife of John W. Perigo, and the unknown heirs and devisees of John W. Perigo, deceased; that each and all of said defendants may be required to answer and set up what interests, if any they have or claim to have in said premises, or be forever barred from asserting the same; that the same may be adjudged null and void and that the title of plaintiffs to said premises may be quieted against the same, and for all such other and further relief as may be just and equitable.

Defendants are required to answer on or before the 20th day of August, 1924.

FRANK H. OTT and JULIA E. OTT.

MORGAN P. GUENTHER.
